The college has successfully implemented two best practices under the title "JRM CARE" as per the provisions of the NAAC. The objectives of the best practice 1 and 2 of our college are framed to extended in two realms as follows –

Best Practice: 1

Title:Environment Care

Objectives of Practising Environment Care:

Environmental concern is a very very serious issue right now! We have been experiencing this excruciating pain through climate change all over the world. The United Nations had agreed to minimize the pressure on environment through various initiatives for which the educational institutes play a vital role to spread environmental awareness among children and people within their campus and outside society. Therefore our college initiated a special camp by visiting to Jalangi River and asked the students to study changes and conditions of biodiversity nearby college, which is large source of local irrigation, cleaning, drinking water for many. Moreover the college practices sustainable development, making the campus completely green for which a gardener is appointed for 24×7 service to the campus environment.

The Context:

Brundtland Commission report defines in "Our Common Future" (1987), Sustainable Development is the *"Development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs."*Realizing its importance, the college knows that the whole world faces a serious threat of environmental issue. Mankind moves rapidly towards the backward areas of human civilization. Through this practice the IQAC wants to encourage our students, teaching and non-teaching staffs to build our nation and society safe and sustainable for us and for future generation.

The Practice: To deal with the environmental issues, the college has constituted a sub-committee i.e. Nature, Environment, and Campus Development Cell, to look after the cases of environment.

Evidence of Success: To sensitize all stakeholders, IQAC organizes seminars and workshops regularly, and programmes are organized, speeches made on the issues of social problem.

Best Practice 2:

Title: Social Care

Objectives of Social Care:

The social care of JRM includes gender equality, emotional support, and counselling. Therefore the college ensures gender equity in sharing knowledge and emotional support to both male and female students equally in diverse areas of their studies in order to aware them on social and educational values of men and women.

The Context:

Society faces serious tasks to deal with the social problems such as peace, safety, and security.So all the stakeholders must feels at home within the college campus and project their learning outcomes and practice to the society outside.

The Practice:

IQAC has constituted several committees and Cells to address the gender problems if they exist or are practiced within the college. They are as follows:

- Women's Cell,
- SC/ST/OBC/Minorities Cell,
- Students' Welfare Committee,
- Internal Complaint Cell,
- Counselling Cell,
- Grievance Redressal Cell,
- Equal Opportunity Cell,
- Discipline and Anti-Ragging Sub-Committee

Evidence of Success:

To make our students, teachers and non-teaching staffs aware of the above-mentioned issues, the Cultural, Seminar, Workshop and Symposium Sub-Committee regularly organizes seminars, workshops and programmes. Opportunities are extended to the students to express their views through cultural programmes and students' feedback system. The entire campus is under the CCTV surveillance including classrooms, staff rooms, corridors, offices etc. There are 24×7 security guards and gate keepers allotted. Teachers always supervise noise pollution within the college campus.
